WORKERS PREFER TO RETAIN THEIR CHAPTER IDENTITY*Decline to Accept Consolidation Plan By Vote of 168 to 20.*EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE*Adopts Action By Vote of Six to Four; Many Expressions of Views
Made at Last Night's Meeting;
Good Temper and Spirit Are Shown.

By a vote of 168 to 20 by the individual members and a vote of six to four by the executive committee the Connellsville chapter of the Red Cross declined to join in the movement to consolidate all the chapters into one under the direction of a county headquarters.

Chairman J. Fred Kurtz expressed himself this morning as by no means satisfied with the result of the action taken. Personally he had favored consolidation largely because national headquarters, having a more intimate knowledge of the needs of the organization, had requested it as a means of speeding up the work as well as a means of distributing the burden of placing somewhat heavier responsibility upon the chapters.

The campaign," said Mr. Kurtz, "will produce some excellent results. A big fact developed by it is that members of the Connellsville chapter are intensely interested in the work of the Red Cross and have a commendable pride in what the chapter has done, both in quantity and quality of work turned out. They recognize that we have a splendid organization that is capable and efficient and that the work is running like a well-oiled piece of machinery. The members, therefore, fear that any change in the organization would be a break in upon the well-ordered machine which the chapter has been running.

The vote taken and the sentiments expressed show that there are well-ordered objections to making a change aside from any feeling that "exist in consequence of the rivalry between Uniontown and Connellsville, and this, after all, was really least of the reasons impelling members to vote as they did. On the other hand the objections offered state very good reasons why a change should be a central county organization. One point was brought at the meeting which I am sure members, myself among others, never considered, or at least not with that attention its importance deserves. That is, with so many rate chapters the members are to become so absorbed in their own that they overlook altogether outlying communities as sources of help. With a county organization it would be practicable to create committees and auxiliaries in these communities and gather many workers who would be glad of the opportunity to become enrolled as such. It would vastly increase the output of Red Cross supplies and would really be the chief purpose of the movement to enlarge the organization's membership.

With a county organization the places could be strengthened, work stimulated and extended and a larger result be obtained. If chief objection to consolidation is removed—that of destroying the identity or interrupting the smoothness of the Connellsville chapter—then the chapter is convinced that the county unit would meet with more favor. We know what are the objections to it and also know that they are not removable.

A ballot by members, which on Monday, was concluded yesterday evening. The count of ballots was: at a meeting of the executive committee last evening. After the results were announced expressions of opinion on the proposition and upon consolidation, as disclosed by the ballots, were invited from members of the chapter who were present.

See expressions, and the motions, on 20 ballots which had been decided in the ballot box by members had not voted either for or against the consolidation, indicated plainly that the proposed plan viewed with disfavor by a large majority of the membership although a manifestation of an earnest desire to do what was considered to be the best interests of the chapter. After a discussion, covering the situation from every standpoint, continuing until 10 o'clock, the executive committee took a secret ballot, the result of which was recognition of the sentiment expressed by the majority of members who had voted adversely.

T. Norton, when called upon for views upon the question, declared as he prejudiced in favor of the consolidation, his information of the national headquarters convinced him that it was in every way desirable to simplify the organization as much as possible in order to efficiency might be increased. It can be done best through reduction of number of units with which it is necessary for national headquarters to deal. Thus, the combination of the chapters of Fayette county into one would reduce the clerical and record work at headquarters from 100 to 10. At present the supplies for the several chapters are sent to

AUCTION OFF FIFG
FOR RED CROSS

People of the Perryopolis community will have the opportunity to buy a pig as a means of boosting the Red Cross. Jacob Hough has provided the little pig. Tomorrow at 2 o'clock it will be put up at auction in the public square at Perryopolis. Assistant County Superintendent James G. Robinson will be the auctioneer. The proceeds will be given to the Red Cross.

headquarters where they must be opened, inspected and repacked in cases suitable for overseas shipment. With but one unit in the county the supplies would be sent by street car or automobile, in hampers which could be returned to the local branches and auxiliaries. The supplies would be inspected at the county headquarters by experienced inspectors, packed in standard cases and forwarded direct to the ocean pier ready for loading on board ship. This would relieve division and national headquarters of the enormous amount of work now involved in the work of shipping, and at the same time cut down the clerical work necessary in keeping the records of the work done by the several chapters.

Mr. Norton also pointed out that under a centralization of chapters it would be possible for much more work to be done in the county. There are scores of smaller towns and communities that are doing absolutely nothing in the direction of making supplies. These could be organized into branches or auxiliaries and soon become substantial contributors to the work. "In this respect," said Mr. Norton, "Fayette county is woefully deficient in quantity production of Red Cross supplies in proportion to its population. It is quantity shipment that the national headquarters wants, and to secure it is the object of centralizing the chapters."

"As far as being animated by a spirit of community rivalry in this work," Mr. Norton said, "it is high time for us to put it aside. While the Red Cross is strictly non-sectarian and undenominational, its work exemplifies the spirit of Christianity and that should prompt those who engage in it."

To the claim that an amalgamation of the county chapters would remove the stimulus to contributing financially to the Red Cross Mr. Norton said: "If we gave to this cause during the last drive more than we would otherwise have given simply to beat Uniontown, we were wrong in our giving and we gave too much. But whether we fall behind our earlier record $10,000 or more on the next drive, the amount of our deficiency will be but a drop in the bucket among the gifts that will come from 100,000 people in the United States. What we must not lose sight of is the fact that national headquarters expects hospital supplies, knitted garments and surgical dressings in increasing quantities; and we ought not to set ourselves up as bigger than headquarters when the request is made of us to adopt a plan that will insure larger production of these essentials and promote the efficiency of the whole organization."

F. E. Markell held to the view that if the spirit of rivalry which has existed between Uniontown and Connellsville is removed through a chapter consolidation it will be difficult if not impossible for Connellsville to attain its previous record in the matter of giving and will tend very much to lessen the interest in Red Cross work generally. He referred to the successful efforts of Uniontown to have the contributions of Dawson and other remote points included with Uniontown's quota in order to swell the total. This spurred Connellsville to greater activity to surpass Uniontown. Without the incentive of such a rivalry Mr. Markell was confident we would fall down badly on our next money-raising campaign.

Mayor Duggan agreed with Mr. Markell, pointing out that the existence of a healthy rivalry between the towns was a good thing for both as it stirred people to action who otherwise could not be stirred. This rivalry, the mayor agreed, had not always taken the form that was conducive to the maintenance of the most friendly relations between the two towns, citing the last football game between Connellsville and Uniontown, high school teams as an instance.

F. W. Wright thought that if the members of the Connellsville chapter were satisfied with conditions as they are, and the vote indicated that they were, it would probably not be advisable to make a change. He recognized certain advantages to be derived from having a single chapter in the county but against that there were decided disadvantages, not the least of which would be an interruption to the progress of and interest in the work by the Connellsville members.

Mrs. J. French Kerr, who just recently returned from a conference at the state headquarters in Philadelphia, expressed herself as very much in favor of the consolidation. While in Philadelphia, she was shown

MAYOR ORDERS
PROMPT REPAIR
OF WATER LINES*City Will Hold Company Responsible for Damages, He Serves Notice.*STREETS BEING RUINED*By Continuous Flow From Broken Mains, Executive Points Out in Formal Statement to Superintendent; Petitions to be Circulated at Once.

Notice has been served on the Connellsville Water company by Mayor John Duggan calling for the immediate repair of broken mains in the city to stop the flow of water which "is ruining the streets of the City of Connellsville and has heretofore done great damage to such streets." The notice has been served by Chief of Police W. B. Bowers.

Water from broken mains is running over the streets in different parts of the city which would make the thoroughfares impassable if the weather becomes colder and a freeze resulted. A broken main in some part of Fairview avenue is occupying the attention of the water company today. The water has been flowing under the bricks and has undermined many on the north side of the street.

The water situation here is being handled today by W. J. Edmunds, who has been named superintendent of the local plant to succeed A. E. Halstead whose resignation took effect yesterday. The new superintendent was formerly located at New Castle. The notice served on the water company follows:

"To Connellsville Water Company: "You are hereby notified that by reason of bursting pipes constituting part of your water system, and the continuous flow of water therefrom, is ruining the streets of the City of Connellsville, and has heretofore done great damage to such streets. "You are hereby notified and required to forthwith repair the said burst pipes and mains, and stop the flow of the escaping water. "You are further hereby notified that the City will hold you responsible in damages for all injuries done to the streets by reason of the premises, as well as resulting from improper excavations made in the streets, and the replacements thereof. "You are further notified that the City will hold you responsible to further indemnify it for and on account of suits and actions that may be brought against it arising from injury to either persons or property on account of the matters herein mentioned."

Petitions which will be circulated throughout the city are being drawn up by Assistant City Solicitor J. Kirk Renner. They will then be sent in to the Public Service Commission to show that the citizens of Connellsville are back of council in the recent petition that was filed with the commission against the water company.

The petitions read: "To the Honorable Public Service Commission of Pennsylvania: "The undersigned, all of whom are residents and property owners of the City of Connellsville respectfully represent:

"1. That they are familiar with the contents of the petition recently filed with your Honorable Commission by the City of Connellsville against the Connellsville Water company, a corporation. "2. That they hereby affirm the truth of the statements set forth in the said petition and respectfully beg leave to join in the prayer thereof. "The petitions have not yet been placed in circulation but they will be put out as soon as a number of them are drawn up."

AMERICAN TROOPS MAY SOON AID THE
JAPS IN SIBERIA*President Giving Serious Consideration to Russian Situation.*OVERSHADOWS ALL ELSE

Petrograd is Menaced and American Consul, Last Official in the City, Leaves; Norwegian Consulate Takes Over the United States Affairs.

By Associated Press. WASHINGTON, March 1.—Japan's proposal for action in Siberia has crowded German Chancellor Von Hertling's speech into second place in the consideration of officials here, and there were indications today that decisions were being formed which soon would show themselves in some arrangement of an international character to prevent the vast stores at Vladivostok and control of the trans-Siberian railway from falling into the hands of the advancing Germans.

The expectation that President Wilson was planning to address Congress very soon in reply to Von Hertling's speech was dissipated today by evidence that the President is making no such plans at this time and probably does not consider it necessary to reply to the German chancellor for the present at least.

Outward indications today were that the President was studying the question of American participation with the Japanese in Siberia to the exclusion of other subjects.

FREE HAND FOR*JAPAN IS URGED.

LONDON, March 1.—Japan's proposals with regard to Siberia and their reception in Washington have brought the question of Japan's active participation in military operations to the front here, the developments dominating the news columns of the press.

A Reuter cablegram quoting an Associated Press dispatch from Washington is given great prominence in type and position by the morning papers and is commented upon extensively.

The bulk of the opinion favors Japan's proposed action without qualification and the plea is made in some quarters that she ought to be trusted and given a free hand.

AMERICAN CONSUL*QUITS RUSS CAPITAL.

STOCKHOLM, March 1.—The American consul has left Petrograd where he remained after the embassy's departure according to information reaching the American legation here. The consulate has been taken over by the Norwegian consul.

This bare report appears to indicate that the situation in Petrograd has taken an unexpected turn for the worse; in view of the fact that the latest previous messages from the Russian capital said that the American consul would remain there after the departure of the ambassador and his staff in order to keep in touch with the American legation here and with the State Department.

Deaths of United States Troops in Gas Attack Are Quickly Avenged.*PHOTOGRAPHS VALUABLE*By Means of Them Gunners Get Exact Location and Range and Cause Complete Destruction of the German Batteries; Six Men Die From Gas.

By Associated Press. WITH THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN FRANCE, Thursday, Feb. 28.—Swift retribution has fallen upon the German batteries which this week bombarded the American trenches northwest of Toul with gas shells. American heavy artillery concentrated its fire on the German minenwerfer batteries and in half an hour today obliterated the positions.

Thus far six men have died from the effects of the German gas shells. More than 80 are in hospitals suffering from gas poisoning.

The ground about the German batteries was churned upside down and if there were any German soldiers there they certainly suffered death.

Aeroplane photographs aided the American gunners in their destructive fire against the German batteries. The photographs, taken yesterday, disclosed the exact location of the minenwerfer workers with the result that it did not take the gunners long to even up the score with the enemy.

Late this afternoon the Germans attempted to retaliate for the destruction of the batteries. They bombarded the American heavy artillery with their biggest guns, but their shooting had little effect. American patrols were all over No Man's Land last night but did not encounter any Germans.

The American sector is now an ocean of mud and constant work is necessary to keep the trenches, gun pits and dugouts free from water.

Cowgill, 77 years old, an employee of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad company for many years; and a veteran of the Civil War, died last night at 9:10 o'clock at the family residence in South Fourth street. Mr. Cowgill's death was not unexpected. He had been in poor health for the past five years and was confined to his room for 18 months previous to his death. He suffered a stroke of paralysis a year ago last October. About three weeks ago he was the victim of a second stroke. Yesterday the third one followed, causing his death. For the past month she had been subject in the mornings to smothering spells, thought to have been caused from heart trouble. However, her condition was never grave enough to cause alarm. All day yesterday and up until retiring last night at 11 o'clock Mrs. Bettler was seemingly in her usual health. About 5 o'clock this morning she was stricken with a similar attack and died about 45 minutes later.

Mrs. Bettler was born in Connelville 60 years ago last October, a daughter of William Murray deceased, and Mrs. Margaret Murray. #### RED CROSS TO RETAIN IDENTITY through the warrooms and the work done there explained to her. From the knowledge thus gained she saw the very great necessity of simplifying the work so that headquarters would be relieved and better methods applied to making shipments of supplies direct from point of assembly to ocean pier. Mrs. Kerr reported that the warrooms were almost bare of supplies, indicating that the local chapters must broaden the scope of their activities and enlist more workers so as to increase production.

Dr. Katherine Wakefield, one of the organizers and first president of the local chapter, said that she had never been very much in favor of consolidation, having looked upon the Connelville chapter as her "pet," with which she would very much dislike to part.

J. E. Angell saw some advantages in a consolidation plan but in view of the attitude expressed by the members who had cast their ballots and otherwise made known their sentiments he thought that nothing should be done other than to confirm the action taken by the individual members. J. Fred Kurtz, chairman of the Connelville chapter, drew attention to the fact that the executive board occupies very much the same relation to the chapter that a board of directors does to the stockholders of a corporation. While he felt that a consolidation was in the best interests of the Red Cross as a national organization, he did not feel that the personal views of himself or any other member of the committee should induce the committee to take action in opposition to the views of the individual members. They had in effect made a recommendation that the identity of Connelville's chapter be preserved, hence the committee could do no less than approve that recommendation.

Mrs. W. O. Schoonover, who left early in the evening on account of another engagement, expressed her attitude by voting in favor of the consolidation before withdrawing from the meeting.

Mrs. John L. Gans pointed out that with a single county unit the employment of salaried inspectors and a secretary would be necessary which would shift from national headquarters to the county chapter the expense of this work, thereby reducing the funds which can now be applied to the purchase of materials used in making supplies.

W. D. McGinnis favored consolidation as a general proposition. Having learned from the Red Cross representative who had visited Fayette county in the interests of this plan that Uniontown was willing to concede to Connelville the chairmanship, or whatever was wanted in the matter of a county organization, Mr. McGinnis confessed to having his suspicions aroused. "That don't sound like Uniontown," he said.

The discussion was marked by a good temper and spirit, every person who participated in it being very much in earnest in their desire to do only what they conscientiously believed to be for the best interest of the chapter and the Red Cross as a whole.

The notations made on the ballots by those who did not vote either for or against the proposition, and also on some of the ballots that favored consolidation, gave an indication of the mind of the members. "Snatched as we are," "In favor if Connelville is made the headquarters," "Change would lower efficiency of workers," "Would lose our identity," "In favor if Connelville is made shipping point," "Don't know enough about plan to vote," "We never could get along with Uniontown," "In favor if national headquarters pays increased chapter expense," "Got better results as we are," "Members would lose interest," "Uniontown is not a shipping center; has only two branch railroads," were some of the recorded expressions of sentiment on the proposed change.

HERRYOPOLIS BROTHERS IN MARINE SERVICE IN FRANCE WRITE SOME EXPERIENCES

A letter from Harry Woisnet of Herryopolis to his sister of that place carries the information that he has been promoted to a corporal in the seventh company of the Fifth Regiment of Marines with the American expeditionary forces in France. In part the letter, dated January 15, reads:

"We are having bad weather. We had been having snow for two weeks. Yesterday it rained and covered the ground with ice. I sallied forth with my hob-nails and was like to have broken my neck. Suffice it to say I returned and took them off. We had a few days of good skating about a week back. I borrowed a pair of skates. I couldn't buy any. They cost about 35 francs (a franc is 19.3 cents) and went out skating and of course I had to distinguish myself by falling into a pile of slush in front of a large rowd."

A short note from Dewey Woisnet, brother of Harry, to his mother says in part:

"I haven't been what you would call homesick yet, although I think when I get home they will have a hard time to get me out of ye old town limits. I had snapshots taken the other day and when the fellow gets them finished I will send you some. I would buy a Kodak but you have to pay $11.50 for the kind that costs $6 in the States. You needn't send me any tobacco for I am in a place where I can get all I want at four cents a pack. We were in one place where I had to give five francs for four packages, which is about 25 cents apiece."

Dewey is a member of the same organization as Harry.

WHY WOMEN CANNOT SLEEP."

The highly organized, finely strung nervous system of women subjects them to terrors of nervous apprehension which no man can ever appreciate.

The peace of mind, the mental poise and calmness under difficulties, which are necessary for happy womanhood, are only possible when the sensitive organism is in a perfectly healthy condition. If there be any derangement in this respect no remedy in the world so completely restores womanly health as the wonderful "Favorite Prescription" discovered by Dr. Pierce, who early practiced medicine in Pennsylvania.

BEAVER SPRING, PA.—"I had been sick for several years with blind, dizzy spells, palpitation of the heart, pains in back of head, and at times weak, tired feeling and nervous spells. I tried several doctors but they failed to do me any good. As soon as I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I began to get better—could sleep nights and that bad, nervous feeling left. I took in all three bottles of the 'Favorite Prescription.'"—MRS. FRANK WAGNER.

SPRING SEWING

Our stores are supremely well prepared for spring sewing work. Every housekeeper is preparing or about to prepare for spring sewing, and every good merchant is also preparing to supply them with the material for spring sewing. It would be useless for us to specify the number of advanced styles of new goods for suits and dresses, underwear, shirt waists, and skirts, and dropping that line altogether, there is much spring sewing to be done for house furnishings; window curtains, bed clothing, sheets, pillow slips, and many other articles. You know about them better than we can tell you. The Union Supply Company stores are prepared, they have everything you want. There are thousands of yards of gingham, domestic and imported, styles designed to meet every desire, striped, plaids, foulards or calico prints, plain shades, color combinations galore. There are imported linens for towels, for table cloths, etc., but what is the use of specifying—a better way is for you to come and see. The new stocks are all in, displays are now complete.

day and tomorrow, a remarkable production. The theme deals with Eleanor Stratton, a young society matron much in love with her husband who overhears a so-called detective trying to blackmail him. Shamelessly playing over the top, Eleanor learns that in his early life the husband, whom she had been inclined to place upon a sort of pedestal as an example of perfection, had committed a rather serious theft.

THE ARCADE.

Jack Fuquay and Zarrow's Little Bluebird company at the Arcade yesterday scored another tremendous hit in "Bluebird Bay." Not only did Mr. Fuquay add to his laurels but Billy Featon, Irish tenor, in his song won instant favor and was compelled to take four encores. He is a pleasing singer, and is also a clever actor. Sneed and Clark have a very pleasing song and chatter number that is excellent, far and away above the average act to this kind. The show is a real musical comedy, with consistent plot, beautiful wardrobe and appropriate scenery, and special song numbers. The opening and closing are out of the ordinary. The bill today and tomorrow is "Doctor Dippy" and the "Morning Herald of Uniontown" says it is a scream from start to finish. Mr. Fuquay is given greater opportunity for unbiaking and he takes full advantage of it. It has been noticed with all the Zarrow shows that the last bill is the best laugh producer. The picture will be William S. Hart in "The Last Chance."

SPLENDID KITCHEN CABINET

Given Away at The Soison Tonight. In addition to a magnificent production of "A Wife But No Children" at the Soison the elegant and useful kitchen cabinet from Packman's will be given away tonight. This is the most expensive gift ever presented from a local sage. Then too the play is one of the best in the lengthy Manhattan repertoire. Next week the Manhattan will appear in three great plays. "Fighting the System" will be produced Monday and Tuesday.

WHY NOT AN EXPOSITION TO FIT WAR TIMES?

There will be a certain disappointment over the decision not to hold the merchants' exposition this year as formerly. This is a young institution in Connelville but one that gained considerable popularity and served many excellent purposes during its comparatively brief existence.

Instead of abandoning the project on account of war conditions, could it not be held as usual and turned to good account as an aid in the war?

If designed with the end in view of educating the people to meet the requirements which the existence of war are demanding, in the matter of conservation of food stuffs, economical buying and the utilization of wastes, would not the exposition prove of really greater value to the community in war time than in peace time? Take for instance the question of using wheat flour substitutes. There is an alarming lack of information among the people generally as how best to employ them as the food conservation regulations have prescribed. Demonstrations along this line ought to prove of very decided benefit not alone to the people but to the merchants as well.

In like manner educational exhibits along other lines which so vitally affect people in solving the problem of war time costs of living would have a very great practical value. The whole exposition could be planned with the objects stated in view, be given a war setting and the proceeds distributed equally between the Red Cross, Navy League, U. S. C. A., Knights of Columbus, and Young Men's Hebrew Association and other agencies that are providing for the comfort, moral, spiritual and physical welfare of the soldiers and sailors.

With the features enumerated, and others which could appropriately be added, and for the objects named, an exposition held at this time would have a greater novelty, arouse more interest and appeal to more people, and perhaps be of more direct benefit than when held under the conditions prevailing in previous years.

We commend the suggestion of making the exposition fit war times to those who have had the management of the former expositions in charge.

WORSE THAN AN IDLE WASTE.

It has become to be an almost unprofitable waste of time to give very much thought or attention to the pretended peace moves of the German statesmen. Whatever they may have to say concerning the willingness of Germany to accept any of the fundamental principles of peace, as enunciated by President Wilson in his statement of America's war aims, are so palpably insincere that no importance can be or should be attached to their utterances. It is still more unprofitable for the Allied nations to delegate, at long range with Count von Hertling, the Imperial Chancellor, "the arguments that will tell with German and Austrian people," says ex-President Taft, "the Allied victories on the western front from the North Sea to the Adriatic, and nothing else." Let us address our whole energy to achieving "real ourselves again in this country," continues Mr. Taft, "is the organization of an inconclusive peace party. As the losses of life and the burdens of taxes and contributions and the occasional and inevitable discouragements crowd up on us in the progress of the war, the insidious pessimists, the treacherous, the weak-kneed pacifists, the selfish and unpatriotic will gravitate together and will seize upon peace discussions, if continued between the Potsdam cabal and the President, as evidence that peace is only a question of specific terms and of mutual concessions. The fact is far from this. The President made this clear in his early messages. We cannot and must not retreat from the position that the defeat of Prussian militarism in battle and the consequent ending of German plans for world domination by force is our aim in this war, and we shall be satisfied with nothing else. Any doubt cast upon this as our purpose weakens our cause."

Germany hopes to weaken our cause by leading us away from our war aims, well aware of her certain defeat if we adhere to them. It is worse than an idle waste—it is even endangering our existence as a nation—if we employ our time, talents and energies in any other direction than making certain the achievement of our aims.

A COUNTY FARM PLAN.

The plan which the farmers of Lehigh county have adopted, of pooling their tools and working forces and buying tractors, as a means of furthering an increased crop campaign during the coming season, may well be considered by the farmers of Fayette county when they assemble tomorrow for the annual meeting of the Farm Bureau.

Farming conditions in Fayette county do not differ so widely from those in Lehigh county that plan to be employed there could not, with certain modifications, be applied here. We have the same shortage of farm labor, if anything more acute than in the eastern county. We have farmers who are quite as well equipped with farm machinery and just as able, financially, to purchase tractors. There is an equal willingness to join in a cooperative movement, which is the basis of the Lehigh county plan. For several years the farmers of Fayette county have practiced a sort of community clubbing plan by joining together to provide labor sufficient to handle each other's crops in turn. The Lehigh plan is simply reducing this to something of a system.

Perhaps the only new feature of the Lehigh plan is the employment of the farm tractor. Comparatively speaking, this implement is new to all farming sections of the east, but its proven success and adaptability in sections farther west are assurances that its use on the farms of Fayette county would not be a matter of doubt. It would so facilitate farming operations that it would go very far toward solving the farm labor problem which here, as elsewhere, is the one uncertain element in a scheme of increased production.

On the whole the Lehigh plan seems worthy of very careful consideration.

OVERLOADED COAL CARS ARE CAUSE OF DELAY IN MOVEMENT

Hundreds of Cars Being Held in Yards Until Loads Can Be Reduced.

ENDANGERS HUMAN LIFE

No Less Than Cripples Freight Service; Railroads Considering Cutting Off Car Supply to Those Shippers Who Persist in the Bad Practice.

Railroad men declare that overloading is one of the causes of delay in prompt movement of cars. This has become so serious that the railroads are considering the adoption of stringent rules to check the practice.

Statistics of 43 cars in one yard show that these cars had excess loading ranging all the way from 3,000 to 34,200 pounds. All the cars are being held for lightening, either by the railroad or for return to the mines if the shippers elect to accept the latter course and do their own reducing after paying the road for getting the cars back to the initial point.

An overload of 10 per cent beyond the stenciled capacity of a car is permitted, but that above that, unless the excess is so slight as to be negligible, paring down must be done. The overloading practice became especially serious when cars became scarce. Shippers, when they receive a car on their sidetracks load all in it that it could possibly contain and trusted to luck to get the car through.

With a shortage of coal cars came the use of box cars for the transportation of coal. The temptation to overload these was too great to be resisted, railroad men say.

The car noted as having an overload of more than 34,000 pounds was described as a 60,000-pound capacity box car belonging to a foreign road. The shipper loaded the car to the roof with coal and then billed it out. The car stood up under the burden long enough to reach a scale track. When it was run on the scales the eyes of the scale clerk bulged as he recorded the weight. The car was promptly sidetracked and the shipper was notified.

Danger to rolling stock is not the only question involved, the coal freight agent pointed out, as there is the added danger to human life from wrecks due to breakdowns in transit. Bulging sides and broken axles under overloaded coal cars are by no means uncommon, railroad men say, and nothing is more dreaded in a moving freight train than a broken axle.

Railroad officials are considering cutting off car service from such coal concerns as deliberately overload cars placed at their disposal. There are said to be hundreds of overloaded coal cars side-tracked in the Pittsburgh district. Most of these have been left on the railroads for putting in shape for transit. The railroads with a serious shortage of labor in their classification yards, have been unable to keep up with this extra work and, as a consequence, the cars with burdens too great for safe handling are accumulating.

While no estimate was made of the amount of coal prevented from reaching the consumer promptly as the result of overloaded cars, the quantity is believed to run into thousands of tons.

FIRE TRUCK DAMAGED.

Idle on Truck No. 1 Broken While Answering Call in Sodom.

Running through a dark section of Sodom Wednesday night in response to an alarm from the Connelville Foundry, Machine & Steel Castings company, near Sodom, Fire Truck No. 1 struck a deep rut and front spindle was broken off. The spindle of Truck No. 2, identical to the one, was placed on the big truck. The fire at the shops did not cause much damage, only burning a few window frames.

Victor Records for March

Dear Music Lover:

Dance enthusiasts may now enjoy the identical dance strains of the world's most palatial hotel!

"May Time Waltz" is the first Victor dance by the famous Waldorf Astoria Dance Orchestra. The second, Victor Herbert's "American Serenade," is the fox trot reverse. You will want this new March record. No. 18432—75c.

There's peculiar syncopation, unexpected bell notes, and other unique effects in the Peerless Quartet's bit of rag, "Liberty Bell." It's clever; it's catchy. It will take hold. Has an excellent Shannon Four reverse, "There's a Service Flag Flying at Our House." No. 18434—75c.

"Jack O' Lantern," as recorded by the Victor Light Opera Company, is spilling over with the delightful song hits of this year, the year's most popular musical comedy. With the "Leave It to Jane" reverse, this record easily becomes one of the musical gems of the Victor Catalog. No. 35686—$1.25.

"Homeward Bound" is an unusual thing by the Peerless Quartet—serious, but happy, cheerful vein—noting the return of the boys from "over there." Watch this song "catch on." Spencer and Shannon Four reverse, "Sweet Little Buttercup." No. 18427—75c.

Heifetz, the great 19-year-old violin marvel furnishes the spectacular feature in his remarkable "La Capricieuse." Remember, too, that Heifetz appears in Pittsburgh, March 11th. No. 64760—$1.00.

Drop in and hear the new March records—while they're brand new.

SUFFERED 20 YEARS NOW FINDS RELIEF

Tried Remedy After Remedy
Without Avail Until Master Medicine Brought Relief.

"Tanlac has done more for me than anything I ever used, and I have tried everything during the twenty years I suffered," says Emanuel G. Richerick, foreman at Small's Flour & Feed Warehouse, York, Pa.

"I had stomach, bowel and nervous trouble," he continued. "I had no appetite and got no good out of my food. This wore me down until my health was so weakened that I was attacked by neuralgia and oh! the agony I suffered from those darting, burning pains that would shoot through every nerve in my body. Sometimes it got through the day."

"I tried remedy after remedy; I guess I tried about everything that held out the slightest hope of relief, but none of them did me a particle of good. I was desperate—I felt that I could not stand it much longer. One day I read about Tanlac. I said to myself—I've tried all the others so I'll see if this will help me."

"And it did! It helped me from the very first. I felt better and better with each dose until today I hardly know myself."

"I am going to stick to Tanlac; for already those neuralgic pains have left me. My stomach is in such fine condition that I can eat anything and I feel well and vigorous all over."

"Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is now sold here by Connellsville Drug Co. Tanlac can also be secured in Dubar at D. C. Mason's Drug Store."

SCRAPS OF HUMOR

APPROPRIATE.

Special Writer—I have an article on the kind of milk the farmers give the summer boarders.
Editor—Oh! condense it.

SOME REALLY NEED THEM.

On Johnny's first day of school he was given a registration slip, on which mother was to write his birth record. The following day he came tardy and without the registration slip. His teacher said:

"Johnny, you must bring an excuse for being tardy, and don't forget the slip about when you were born."

All out of breath, next day, Johnny rushed in, holding out a note from mother.

"Teacher," he gasped, "I brought the one about being tardy, but I forgot my excuse for being born."

Lonely Eminence.

"Did you ever try to uplift the drama?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Stormington Barnes. "I uplifted the drama to my entire satisfaction. But the public was so well satisfied with my attainments that they didn't feel it necessary to come around and supervise my demonstrations."

The Perfect Food.

"There are five classes of food—proteins, carbohydrates, fats, minerals and water."

"You get 'em all in hash."

Benefit.

"I hope you felt like a better man after hearing my speech."

"I did. I needed just that two hours' sleep."

Lucky Indeed.

"Did you have any luck in your stock market speculations?"

"Yes, indeed. I escaped with part of my money."

Good Reason.

Wife—This article says that the ball is the oldest toy in the world.

Husband—Yes, and a husband must be the oldest joke in the world.

DAY OF NATIVITY UNKNOWN

World Has Only Tradition to Rely Upon as to Date of the Birth of Christ.

The traditional 25th of December as the date of the birth of the Savior has no historical authority beyond the fourth century, when the Christmas festival was introduced first in Rome (A. D. 300), on the basis of several Roman festivals (the Saturnalia, Sigilaria, Juvenalia, Brumalia, or Dies natalis Invicti Solis), which were held in the latter part of December, in commemoration of the golden age of liberty and equality, and in honor of the sun, who in the winter solstice, as it were, born anew, and begins his conquering march. The only indication of the season of Christ's birth is the fact that the shepherds were watching their flocks in the field at the time (Luke 1:8), and this fact points to any other season rather than winter, and is, therefore, not favorable to the traditional date. Besides, the ancient tradition is of no account here, as it varied down to the fourth century. Clement of Alexandria relates that some regarded the 25th, Pachon (i. e., May 20), others the 24th or 25th, Pharmuthi (April 19 or 20), as the day of Nativity.

As to modern research, the only point on which divines generally agree is that Christ was not born on Christmas day, while numerous learned authorities put the birth on almost every date of the year.

Food—After the War.

Whatever other blessings peace may bring it will not bring instant relief to the masses who are now distressed by food shortage and its natural consequence, high prices. There will be as many mouths to feed when the armies are demobilized as there are now. It is true that the fare of the soldiers in most European countries is more liberal than that of the civil population, but no statesman will take comfort in the prospect of masses of disbanded soldiers reduced to the level of civil undernourishment. And besides the civil populations that are now enduring semi-starvation uncompensatingly, recognizing that no relief can be expected while the energies of their government are engrossed by war, will be far less patient when peace returns. More food, not less, will be required in peace.—The New Republic.

Patch Skull With Patient's Own Ribs. The replacing of destroyed portions of skull with layers of cartilage taken from the patient's own ribs is one of the latest methods of healing war injuries. H. Warren Woodroffe, surgeon of the Ulster Volunteer hospital in France, describes the method which has been successfully tried on a number of severely wounded men.

Cutting down to the ribs parallel to the breast bone, the surgeon slices off thin layers of the cartilage which attaches the body ribs to the breast bone. These are held in the gap caused by the destruction of the skull after the scalp has been turned back. The scalp is then stitched back in place. Within a few weeks, instead of having no protection to the underlying brain, a hard layer of cartilage, firm though slightly elastic, is formed.

As to Remarkable Longevity. We have all read of Thomas Parr, who lived to be one hundred and fifty-two. Likewise of the countess of Desmond, one hundred and forty-five; Margaret Patten, one hundred and thirty-seven; Thomas Damme, one hundred and sixty-four; John Royle, one hundred and seventy-two; and Peter Torton, who reached the age of one hundred and eighty-five. But these cases of extraordinary longevity lack proof.

In the days when those persons lived no accurate chronological records were kept, and dates of occurrences were usually fixed by associating them in memory with other events believed to have happened about the same time. A man's identity was liable to be confused with that of a grandfather of the same name.

Nowadays nobody lives to any such ages. Why imagine that the extreme limits of longevity have shrunk within the last two or three centuries?

Good Night.

Mistress—So you are leaving to be married, Nora?

Nora—Yes, ma'am; an' I'll be leaving now.

Mistress—Well, I hope you are getting a good husband.

Nora—If he ain't any better than the one you've got I'll be back.

NO 'BRIGHT MONEY'

Mrs. Billtops Rises to Height of Self-Sacrifice.

She Had a "Good Thing" in Her Arrangement with the Partner of Her Joy and Sorrows, but Patriotism Came First.

"Something unexpected" has happened," said Mr. Billtops. "Something quite unexpected."

"You know, for years I have been giving Mrs. Billtops all my bright money. Whenever I got a bright dime or quarter or half I simply turned it over to Mrs. Billtops."

"There might be weeks when I would not get a single bright coin; but there would be other weeks in which I would receive in change a considerable number. Altogether these bright coins provided for Mrs. B. a tidy bit of revenue, and I am sure it was as great a pleasure for me to turn them over to Mrs. Billtops as it was for her to receive them, though once this bright money proposition did give me a little scare."

"I dropped into a candy store one day to get some candy for Mrs. Billtops and there I changed for a $5 bill I received two bright dimes and four absolutely spick and span bright new $1 bills."

"Well, now, there was something to make you stop and think. Under our understanding I was to give Mrs. Billtops all 'bright money.' It is true that by that I understood bright coins, and I had no doubt that Mrs. Billtops did, too, but the promise from me was of all 'bright money' and on a strict interpretation, which I did not desire to evade, there was nothing for me to do but to turn over with the two bright dimes those four bright dollars. Which I did."

"But Mrs. Billtops declined to receive them."

"No, Ezra," she said, "no. We both understood bright money to mean bright coins, and we will go not by the letter of the contract but by the spirit. 'Ezra, you keep the $4.'"

"Which I did, and I was always glad she settled it that way, for the opposite interpretation of my obligation might sometimes have subjected me to considerable inconvenience."

"Suppose I should some day have gone into a candy store and laid down not a $5 bill but a $1,000 bill and received in change $999.29 all in bright money, which by the contract I should have been required to turn over to Mrs. Billtops. Why, I have seen the time when handing over that amount of money in that way would have cramped me quite some."

"But never have I failed to hand over all bright coins, year after year continuously, until yesterday, when that something unexpected happened when Mrs. Billtops said to me:

"Ezra, no more bright money. I have always been glad to get it for the sentiment of it and for the use I could make of it, but you need the money more now and from now on you keep it and use it as you would any other money and I will deny myself that luxury. No more bright money, Ezra, from now until the end of the war."

"Unexpected it certainly was, but still it was only what you would have expected her to do, if you knew Mrs. Billtops."

Those Rope-Filled Smokes.

Bill—Give some men rope enough and they'll hang themselves.

Bill—Oh, I don't think it's as bad as all that.

"What do you mean by bad as all that?"

"Why, you've given me a number of those cigars you smoke and they've made me feel bad, but not bad enough to hang myself."

Look and Feel Clean, Sweet and Fresh Every Day

Drink a glass of real hot water before breakfast to wash out poisons.

Life is not merely to live, but to live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headaches, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices of the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble, rheumatism; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store which will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a pronounced crack on the subject of internal sanitation.—Adv.

A DEAD STOMACH

Of What Use Is It?

Thousands of people throughout America are taking the slow death treatment daily.

They are murdering their own stomach, the best friend they have, and in their sublime ignorance they think they are putting aside the jaws of nature.

This is no sensational statement; it is a startling fact, the truth of which any honorable physician will not deny. These thousands of people are swallowing daily huge quantities of peptic and other strong digesters, made especially to digest the food in the stomach without any aid at all from the digestive membrane of the stomach.

Millions of stomach tablets relieve distressed stomachs in five minutes; they do more. Taken regularly for a few weeks they build up the run down stomach and make it strong enough to digest its own food. Then indigestion, belching, sour stomach and headache will go.

Millions of stomach tablets are sold by druggists everywhere, and by A. A. Clarke who guarantees them.—Adv.

HOW DICKY USED HAPPY GIGGLES'S RECIPE.

O H, dear!" exclaimed Dicky one day late last spring. "I wish mamma and Dotty would hurry home. I can't play alone."

"Yes, that is hard," laughed a merry voice, and Dicky's little friend, Happy Giggles, hopped from the rose bush in front of Dicky.

"Oh, Happy Giggles!" exclaimed Dicky. "I'm so glad you've come, for I'm dreadfully lonesome without Dotty."

"Dotty's only way to get her lonesomeness, you know," laughed Happy Giggles.

"I know—to keep busy," replied Dicky. "But there's nothing to do. I can't play by myself."

"Well," exclaimed Happy Giggles. "If you can't find anything to do for yourself, why not help some one else?"

"But mamma's away, too," laughed Dicky. "There's no one else to help except old John, and he's busy making garden."

"There you have it!" said Happy Giggles. "Help John, and before you know the folks will be home again. Busy hands make time fly."

Dicky thanked Happy Giggles and ran over to the garden patch where John was hard at work.

"John, do you think I could help you?" asked Dicky, timidly.

"You certainly can," exclaimed John, mopping his forehead. "I've been dying for a drink and didn't want to take the time to get it."

"Will you give me one?" cried Dicky, and when he returned with a small pail of water John drank every drop.

New System of Merchandising to Help Reduce the High Cost of Living

TO OUR CUSTOMERS

It is to the interest of our customers that a plan has been adopted which we hope will meet with the approval of our patrons to whose loyalty and good will of the past we acknowledge our appreciation.

To those who have dealt with us since we started in business, and to those who more recently have favored us with their patronage, we ask co-operation in this campaign which we believe will result in good to all our patrons.

The government is not only requesting but demanding that the prices of food commodities be kept down to the lowest possible margin of profit and in order to comply, we are compelled to change our plan of doing business, and have decided to put our business on a strictly CASH basis.

Under the new system which has been adopted the Quality of merchandise on which we have built our reputation for the past 35 years will be maintained above all, altho the prices will be greatly reduced on our goods from prices under the old way of doing business. Our plan has been carefully studied out but its introduction has been delayed until convinced that it would work no hardship but prove of advantage to all.

THE NEW SYSTEM

FIRST—Material reduction in prices. Prices will be reduced and marked in plain figures, so the customer may see the price of every article. These prices will be net cash at our store.

SECOND—We Deliver. Our delivery system will be maintained just as efficient and serviceable as at present, but will carry the small charge of 5c for each delivery regardless of the size or cost of same. The new system will give to all customers the opportunity of saving the expense of this service if they prefer, inasmuch as it will be to their financial interest to do so.

THIRD—We Extend Credit. Our credit system is one of the big features of our business, and it is our intention to continue the extension of credit, but all accounts must be paid in full semi-monthly or monthly. Positively no accounts carried over 30 days, and for this service we will charge the small sum of one cent on every dollar or part thereof.

This New System Goes Into Effect

FRIDAY, MARCH 1, 1918.

New System Explained.

In explanation of this new system of merchandising, and to avoid misunderstandings, we quote a few of the new comparative prices to show where savings are effected.

That was fine!" he laughed, smacking his lips. "Now, if you really want to help me you can drop one or two grains of corn into the little hole I've made, and I'll sprinkle in the fertilizer, then we'll fill up the holes with dirt."

"What's the fertilizer for?" asked Dicky.

"To enrich the soil and to make the corn grow faster," replied John. "After the holes are filled with dirt, we'll go back and press the dirt down real hard so the rains won't wash the grains of corn out and the birds carry them away."

Up one row and down another they went, old John humming and whistling as he worked. Dicky following after until all the corn was in the holes.

When mamma and Dotty returned from town John and Dicky were sitting on the porch steps playing Jack stones.

"Finished planting corn so soon?" asked Dicky's mamma.

"Yes, indeed!" replied John, "but I'd never been through it Dicky hadn't helped me."

"Happy Giggles says if you're lonesome to find something to do," laughed Dicky. "So I helped John."

"Happy Giggles is right, dear," mamma smiled. "Busy hands make time fly, and one who is busy never has time to grow lonesome."

Then she handed Dicky a nice box of candy and they all had a feast.

ENGLISH TAKING PLACE OF FRENCH AT AMERICAN BASE

Collectively City Talks New Language More Than Newcomers Do French.

PROGRESS IS RAPID ONE

Military in Full and Absolute Control of Affairs as They Affect the Thousands of Arriving Soldiers and High Moral Standard is Maintained.

By Associated Press.
A PORT IN FRANCE, March 1.—As far as it is possible to Americanize any French city, this base of the American army, has undergone the process since the first troops arrived last June. Collectively it talks English quite fluently—much more so than the visitors speak French at any rate—and its shops have taken on an American air.

Likewise the months have quieted the exuberance that expressed itself in jammed and crowded street and cafes, noise and exultation at the time of the arrival of the first American troops. This in part can be laid to the fact that about a twentieth of the city has been placed 'out of bounds' for all not equipped with special passes, so that the 'dives' and other undesirable establishments that at one time threatened to spring up have died of inanition.

Scarcely a store now but flaunts its wares with tags and comments in English, and the storekeepers have profited by the constant succession of American customers to learn a fair brand of English. Nine out of 10 of them at least are able to conduct a sale in English while not one of 10 of the customers could get what he wanted if he had to rely on French.

Some of the English, of course is ragged, and a compendium of the signs displayed in the main street shops would furnish an excellent basis for a treatise on "English as she is written." There is for example the 'House Taking Charge of Parcels.' Everyone get a receipt, which lies adjacent to the store featuring a model warmly clad in what the proprietor fondly believes is a 'Tranche Coat.' Thus a large notion and curio store situated on a corner, has painted both facades to represent a double American flag with a single center piece containing the stars over the door at the corner. The topmost stripe on both sides bears the inscription, "Soyez en France. Don't Forget Her."

More and more the city has come under the wise-like control of the American authorities. No resident even may send a telegram to any point in France without submitting it to a local censorship that has been created at the suggestion of the Americans.

No single individual leaves the city by train without submitting to an examination. Papers of identification, in many cases written official permission to leave are necessary. The civilian falls inevitably into the hands of the jealous French who are co-operating with the Americans, while the man in uniform, especially the American khaki wearers, are handled by our military police.

The soldiers are on the whole intensely popular with the inhabitants. They are, for one thing, extremely kind to the French children, which strikes a responsive chord in the breasts of the mothers, particularly since it is not a French male custom to fondle and make much of the youngsters. Then, too, a number of the military organizations have clubbed together and have given entertainments for French charities which not only have netted a lot of money but which have been novel and interesting. The latest of these was a negro minstrel show which brought in over $500 for the war-widows of the port.
